

Complaints are a gift!

My Place welcomes feedback about its services: whether they are queries, suggestions, commendations or complaints.

Feedback and complaints have an important role in improving the services that My Place provides.

You have a right to be heard – and we have an obligation to listen

People who My Place supports are encouraged to provide feedback and make complaints without fear of negative consequences.

If you make a complaint, you can expect to have it dealt with promptly, thoroughly and respectfully. My Place will make any reasonable enquiries to ensure that we are aware of all the facts. Treatment of complaints will be fair to all involved parties.

My Place will also make every effort to protect your privacy and keep any written record of your complaint confidential.

What you should do first – and how we should respond

Most concerns can be resolved by speaking directly to the person concerned. A family member or an advocate can help you with this if you feel uncomfortable.

If you don't feel comfortable talking to the person concerned, you can talk to the person's supervisor about your complaint.

What you can do next – and how we should respond

If you feel that your concern has not been satisfactorily resolved after following these first steps, you can raise your concern with a My Place manager. The manager must respond to you directly within five working days.

If you are still not satisfied with the outcome of your complaint, the Managing Director of My Place will be informed and must respond to you directly within 10 working days.

If you are still not satisfied, the Managing Director will formally advise the Board of My Place, who will delegate one of the Board members to become involved.

Where else you can go

If the complaint remains unresolved from your perspective, you are welcome to contact any of the services listed below to help you to have your concerns addressed.
